Consumer Complaints & Fraud Allegations: Lunar Astro

Prepared by: The Digital Consumer Watchdog Group | Date: March 2026

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Recent independent investigations into Lunar Astro (operated by Deepanshu Giri) have uncovered a disturbing pattern of consumer rights violations, intellectual property theft, and organized harassment. By analyzing verified public complaints across multiple platforms (ConsumerComplaints.in, X/Twitter, and Trustpilot), our watchdog group has identified three primary vectors of unethical business practices.

EXHIBIT A: The "Bait-and-Switch" Consultation Scam

Multiple consumers have reported a deceptive sales funnel where clients pay premium fees expecting a personal consultation with Deepanshu Giri, only to be offloaded to inexperienced students.

Evidence Source 1: ConsumerComplaints.in (Nov 23, 2023)

Complainant: Disha Maladkar

The Complaint: The consumer booked a consultation, waiting over a month, only to be informed right before the meeting that Deepanshu Giri does not take personal consultations. When the consumer expressed reservations about being handed off to an unknown proxy, the coordinator rudely canceled the appointment and refused to provide clarity on a full refund, offering only 50%.

Corroborating Evidence: This perfectly matches verified Trustpilot reviews where consumers report paying ₹5,000 expecting Deepanshu, receiving a "substandard" analysis by a student, and being blocked when requesting a refund.

EXHIBIT B: Intellectual Property Theft & Plagiarism

A recurring theme among former associates and students is that Lunar Astro's curriculum is built on stolen methodologies.

The Complaint: "No 1 fraud in the world. Sunil John saab se bits and pieces of knowledge chori ki aur public ko fraud karta hai with half baked knowledge... A total conman deepanshu FRAUD giri"

Evidence Source 3: ConsumerComplaints.in (Nov 8, 2023)

Complainant: rdhikasharmas

The Complaint: Details how Deepanshu Giri allegedly stole the "BCP" technique from his former teacher (Sunil John of Saptarishis Astrology) and repackaged it as his own "Paribhraman Paddhati." The complaint also notes that Lunar Astro previously had a "dedicated to Sunil John" disclaimer on their website, which was quietly removed once the course material was fully copied.

EXHIBIT C: Organized Harassment & Intimidation Tactics

To protect this lucrative business model, Lunar Astro allegedly employs a "troll farm" of proxy students to silence critics and defame rival astrologers.

Evidence Source 4: ConsumerComplaints.in (Jun 27, 2020)

Complainant: raghavzoom

The Complaint: Exposes how Deepanshu Giri uses students (specifically naming Satvik Saini and Ajay Rajan) to post fake reviews, spam Quora with fabricated WhatsApp prediction screenshots, and leak competitors' course materials to destroy their businesses.

The Intimidation: When consumers post these complaints, Lunar Astro's proxies respond with aggressive legal threats. In the very same complaint thread, "Satvik Saini" replied threatening the whistleblower with police action and cyber cell tracking (Section 66D of IT Act) in a blatant attempt to force the removal of the negative review.

CONCLUSION & CONSUMER ADVICE

The evidence indicates that Lunar Astro operates a highly coordinated scheme relying on false advertising, uncredited plagiarism, and aggressive reputation management.

- Do Not Yield to Threats: Threats of "cyber cell tracking" for posting honest consumer reviews are intimidation tactics. Truth is an absolute defense against defamation.
- Demand Chargebacks: If you were promised Deepanshu Giri and received a student, immediately contact your bank or credit card provider and file a "Services Not Rendered as Described" chargeback.
- Report to Authorities: File official grievances with the National Consumer Helpline (NCH) at consumerhelpline.gov.in.
